Comments	There were 19 comments listed earlier this afternoon. Now there are 17? What happened to the other two? Will they be part of the public record as stated? "So here we go again.....development proposals for an already overly dense street that is ONE block long. What happened to concerns for the folks already living here. Some of the neighbors at the location under consideration have been there for years. Now their dwellings will be raised to make way for condominiums again. There are a number of concerns for me, that I did not flush out in the above correspondence. I will list them beginning first with: What happens to the residents living at 351/361 Adena Street, if this project goes forth? Who is advocating for these neighbors, many are long time residents? If we as a city are concerned about "affordable housing" and homelessness, how does displacing these people, without any or few requirements on those who stand to gain from the development, serve any of us? How can the design review process be allowed to go forth quietly, without any notification to the neighborhood directly impacted and be consider just?
I consent to have my comment read out loud during the meeting.	No
