Thank you, Katherine.

I will be very interested in this project as we live directly below them.

I went to several of the meetings and presentations the city of Pasadena had regarding the issue of Mansionization in our city. It seems to me this would be an example of this issue.

Thanks again,

Raquel Donchey

Thank you, Katherine.

Will plan on taking a look September 2nd.

I remember when the large colonial-style built and built and built, with no seeming concern.

It then became the standard for others wanting to do the same - and votes of approval by city council not familiar with the hillside layout.

Three stories (with a basement) is a lot for a low neighborhood ridgeline, IMHO.

The plans will be interesting to view.

Many thanks for your response.
