Dear planning commission,

My name is Bin Lee, and I'm a homeowner in district 1, and I'm very concerned about the lack of affordable housing in our city.

I'm delighted to hear that local churches are stepping up to offer their land for affordable housing. But they're hamstrung by current zoning rules. This also makes things difficult for affordable housing developers, most of them nonprofits who lack funds to build low-density projects.

I ask the commission to adopt policies and zoning changes that enable churches and developers to build higher-density affordable housing to help alleviate the housing crisis.

Thank you for your time and dedication to our city,
